UK Outlook for Wednesday 6 Jan 2021 to Friday 15 Jan 2021:
Scattered showers will feed across eastern parts of the UK during Wednesday with a chance of more prolonged rain and hill snow across the southeast later. Elsewhere it will be mostly fine and cold, although some sleet and snow is likely to reach the far northwest by the end of the day. For the rest of the week and into the weekend conditions are likely to turn more widely unsettled with a mixture of rain, sleet and snow for many parts of the UK. Overnight frosts and icy stretches are also expected with temperatures below average. By the middle of January conditions will probably begin to become a little less cold with the potential for periods of rain and strong winds.
